

An etching of a jaguar by Warwick Reynolds (1880 - 1926)

£1,450

REF: 5961

Framed Height: 41 cm (16.1")

Framed Width: 45 cm (17.7")

Description

Warwick Reynolds studied at the Grovesnor Studio, London, and the St John's Wood Art School.

He focused his career on making drawings of wild animals and exhibited his work at the Royal Academy, London, punctuated by a year studying at the Academie Julian in Paris in 1908.

He died aged only 46 and memorial exhibitions of his work were held the following year in Glasgow and London.

England, circa 1910